

THE WAY WE WORK

The following section of this report looks at the way that we manage our business in the areas of human resources, health, safety and environment and supply chain management.

OUR THREE KEY AREAS OF FOCUS CONTINUE TO BE:

Employees

Key human resources issues include how we treat our employees and the provision of training and development opportunities for them. This sub-section also covers values, ethics and the standard of behaviour that we expect of our employees in their day to day work.

p23

Health, safety and environmental management

This sub-section identifies how we tackle health, safety and environmental (HSE) issues including details of our management and audit systems. The text includes details of training schemes for employees and sub-contractors, as well as our approach to issues such as climate change, waste, land remediation and biodiversity.

Supply chain management

Key supply chain management issues include how we treat our suppliers and sub-contractors, as well as the standards that we expect of them in areas such as health, safety and environment. The text describes our approach to green procurement as well as supplier engagement and vetting practices.
